

Marina Owner, Bill Kavanaugh, explains: "One of the major elements of our business is to provide 'hurricane season' storage for our customers' boats; since introducing the transporter and cradles into our operations, we have virtually doubled the available storage space.

Another huge bonus is the specially designed sail boat cradles; when the boats are locked into the rigid frame during storms and high winds, the boats will not move. This storage method not only gives our customers peace of mind, particularly during hurricane season, but insurance companies are wholeheartedly endorsing this safer storage process."
